

CHURCH INDORSES GREAT MOVEMENT

"Million and a Half" Campaign
Proposed by Southern Presbyterians.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Montreat, N. C., August 17.—The meeting and action of the "Million and a Half" Campaign, constitute another distinct and decidedly forward step in the Southern Presbyterian Church with reference to equipment for every phase of work for increase in contribution to expenses and benevolences, and for the extension of evangelistic effort and accomplishment. The meeting of the Campaign Committee at Montreat was the first that has been held, and it was distinctly successful. The "Million and a Half" Campaign is not a movement inaugurated by the Laymen's Missionary Movement, as is often supposed, but it is a movement ordered by the General Assembly, and is fully outlined in the following recommendations adopted by that body: "In view of the importance of maintaining the assembly's finances, and of a prompt and intelligent understanding and adoption of the Assembly's plan by all the churches, your Committee (for Systematic Benevolence) would respectfully recommend that during the coming year a concerted effort be made to present the plan and the claims of the cause through such conferences as may be arranged, and that the Presbyteries, Synods, and Church Sessions be urged to cooperate with the Assembly's Executive Committee (the Secretaries of Foreign Missions, Home Missions, Publication and Sabbath School Work, and Ministerial Education and Relief), and the leaders of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in this campaign."

"We heartily commend to your favorable consideration the following resolutions of the Executive Committee and representatives of the Laymen's Missionary Movement:

(a) That the four Executive Committees, with the help of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, take in hand the effort to have every church in the Assembly make an every-member canvass for the benevolent causes, and the goal of the campaign be the raising of one million five hundred thousand dollars for the benevolent work of the Assembly during 1912-14.

(b) That the four Executive Committees, with the help of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, be authorized to raise, as a part of this campaign, one-half million dollars, one hundred thousand dollars as a special equipment fund. This special fund to be provided among the four Executive Committees according to the ratio recommended by the Assembly, and the goal of the campaign be the raising of one million five hundred thousand dollars for the benevolent work of the Assembly during 1912-14.

(c) That the financial effort be accompanied by an earnest evangelistic effort on the part of all the pastors and members of our church with the view of deepening the spiritual life of the church and bringing the largest possible number of souls to Christ.

Committee Begins Work.
In keeping with the adoption of this recommendation of the Systematic Benevolence Committee, by the General Assembly, the "Million and a Half" Campaign Committee was appointed.

consisting of two members of each of the four Executive Committees and two members of each of the four Executive Committees and two members of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and the organization of the campaign committee was effected under the following subcommittees: Evangelism Committee, Literature Committee, Publicity Committee, and Finance Committee. For J. P. McCallie, a layman of the church, chairman of the campaign committee, Charles A. Rowland, of Athens, Georgia, is vice-chairman, and John T. Egan, of Atlanta, is treasurer.

The interest of the men of the Southern Presbyterian Church in this campaign was evidenced by the attendance at the Montreat Executive Session from all sections of the church and the enthusiasm with which they entered into the proposed plan, the carrying out of which will result in increased equipment of the church at home and abroad, increased contributions to all of the benevolent work of the church, and a large inbreathing of members as the result of evangelistic effort.

Special effort will be made to secure the pledges of one million dollars for the year 1912-14.

At the Montreat meeting in the interest of this campaign very special emphasis was placed upon the fact that it is very much desired that every one understand fully that the campaign is one in which the whole church is engaged and not merely the executive committee, the Laymen's Missionary Movement and a few other individuals.

Very valuable assistance was secured at the Montreat meeting from the suggestions and addresses of Rev. George E. Keith, of Pittsburgh, secretary of the United Presbyterian Brotherhood, who was prominently identified with a similar campaign which has been only recently carried on in the United Presbyterian Church, and which resulted in the raising within the first year of the campaign $100,000 of the $100,000 desired, and the securing of nearly 10,000 of the 25,000 additional members of the church, on profession of faith, and which campaign has resulted already in a great awakening of the church from every point of view.

When speaking to the Montreat meeting, Mr. Keith emphasized the fact that the church must be just as alert in the prosecution of her plans for the advancement of the work of God in the world, if she is to succeed as is the most successful business man of the world in carrying out the plans which win for him success. He stated also that never have men and women been so willing to make a business of religion as at the present time and never before have they been so willing to lay their lives upon the altar in service for Jesus Christ as at this time.

The plans are outlined by the campaign committee and endorsed by the Montreat meeting, and which will be followed in carrying out this campaign will be as follows: The executive committee of the campaign committee will arrange for the meeting of all expenses connected with the campaign. The church membership will be informed thoroughly as to the needs of the church and the object and plans of the campaign, through the channels of the periodicals of the church, by means of an illustrated booklet, by circulars and personal letters, by presbytery conferences, and by personal effort.

Some members of the campaign committee will visit each presbytery in the church at the coming fall meeting and arrange for the holding of a presbytery conference within the bounds of each presbytery at a later date, and before March, 1913. Some of these conferences will be held before January, and some will be held after, as will be more fully stated in the program. The conference will include a series of lectures on the financial needs of the church and evangelistic work. The conferences will be held under the direction of men who are leaders in this campaign and who are thoroughly competent to advance these conferences to get every church in the assembly (that has not done so already) to adopt the every-member canvass and to get all of the churches in the assembly to unite in a simultaneous canvass for all of the church's causes during the month of March, 1913. The assembly has ordered that the campaign for these causes may be undertaken as a simultaneous canvass of the church and evangelistic work. This campaign will affect the entire membership of the church—men, women and children—all will be urged to unite in the presbytery conference, and the canvass in March will extend to all members alike. If they so desire, the members of church societies who contribute to the church's causes during the campaign will be given credit through the treasurers of the societies.

Importance of Evangelism.
The most important phase of the campaign is that of evangelism, and upon this the chief emphasis will be placed. Pastors and laymen, also, will be urged to engage more actively and more earnestly in evangelistic work. Special emphasis will be placed upon the importance of evangelism in the church and in the world. Effort will be made to get all churches to engage in active Christian work at once. Throughout the campaign effort will be made to solve the problem of how to get a larger force of Christian workers, ministers and laymen, in the field, how to make the force of workers more effective, how to get every church in the assembly to engage in evangelistic work, and the entire membership of the church to engage in evangelistic work. The plan, embracing departments of the church and of evangelism, the work of the church, as far as possible, without hindrance to effectiveness, is considered advisable. If not all the execution of the day, and it is probable that the Southern Presbyterian Church has led all others in following this plan and in carrying out the plan of the same. It has been only a short time since the executive committee of the General Assembly in number, whereas now the entire work of the church is conducted under four of these departments: evangelism, literature, publicity and finance. The interest of the church in this campaign is evidenced by the fact that the campaign is being carried on in the house of Jesus Christ through the agency of the Southern Presbyterian Church, both at home and in foreign lands.

WOMAN IS GORED TO DEATH BY BULL

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lynchburg, Va., August 17.—Mrs. Anne Fourqurean, widow of Henry Fourqurean met a horrible death Tuesday evening at her home near Coleman's Falls, when she was trampled or gored to death by a bull. She was at home alone at the time and it is thought she went to a corn field to tend the corn and in going into the field, out later, her son came home and missing his mother, instituted a search. She died while being carried to the house.

Her brother, John Powers, was killed in Salt Lake City two years ago by a house falling upon him. Mrs. Fourqurean was a daughter of Mrs. E. P. Powers of this city, and had a number of sisters living here.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGE.

Annual Meeting of the Potomac Baptist Association.
Warrenton, Va., August 17.—The Potomac Baptist Association, which has been in session for three days at Broad Run Baptist Church at New Baltimore, Md., here closed on Friday last. George W. Perkins was moderator, and James R. Mansfield acted as clerk. Among the visiting ministers outside of the association were Revs. W. E. Hatcher, J. W. Carmack, J. T. Tucker and J. T. Watts, of Richmond, and E. E. Southern, of Winchester. This was the one hundred and eighty-sixth anniversary of Broad Run Baptist Church. The feature of the association was a paper prepared and read by Joseph Arthur Jenkins, of Warrenton, detailing the history of the Broad Run Baptist Church from its organization in 1822. It is interesting to note that the history of the church reveals the fact that from the church rolls that Luke and Nancy Hanks, the grandparents of President Abraham Lincoln were members of this church. The crowd in attendance, it is stated, was larger than at any previous meeting of the Potomac Association, being estimated at 2,500 people on Thursday.

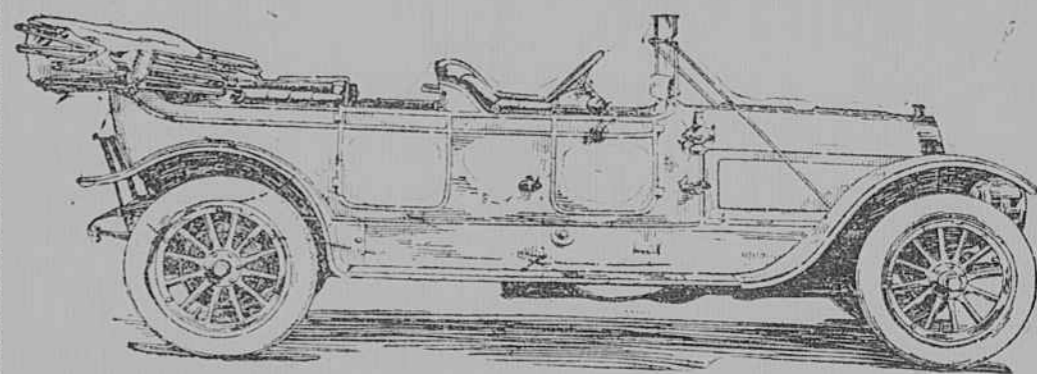

CHILD OF BRIDE SHOTS AND KILLS ONE OF GROOM'S SONS.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Norfolk, Va., August 17.—Not long after the marriage ceremony of Charles Scott and Emma Curren, negroes, of Norfolk County, had been performed, one of the children of the bride shot and instantly killed one of the children of the groom at the newly-made home of the couple in West Mundwenton yesterday afternoon.

The woman had four children and the man two. While all were playing together in one of the rooms of the lower floor, a nine-year-old boy picked up a shotgun, which he believed to be unloaded, and playfully pointed it at an eight-year-old son of his mother's husband, pulled the trigger, blowing the top of the child's head off.

Magistrate J. L. Warden gave a certificate of accidental death.

JAPAN'S NEW RULER IS ENORMOUSLY RICH

With Exception of Czar of Russia, Wealthiest Sovereign in World.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.

JAPAN'S new Emperor is probably the richest sovereign of the world. He is the Czar of Russia, for whose wealth it would be difficult to give a figure. In fact the private fortune of Yoshi Hito is estimated at considerably over $1,000,000,000, without taking into account the possibilities of undeveloped mineral-bearing lands. He owns 58,000 shares in the Imperial Bank of Japan; 600 shares in the Specie Bank of Tokyo; 10,000 shares in the Tokio Bank of Industry; 5,000 shares in the Bank of Formosa; 5,000 shares in the Nippon Yusen Kaisha; 5,000 shares in the Tokio Electric Co.; 4,000 shares in the Tokio Gas Co.; 10,000 shares in the Toshi Paper Manufacturing Co.; and a controlling interest in the two principal steamship lines of Japan, 40,000 shares in the chief railroad company, Company in the Hokkaido Tanko Company; and the majority of stock in the company owning the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. He has $20,000,000 invested in Japanese Government bonds, which he purchased at the time of the war with Russia. In addition to this he owns the great Yamauchi mine, which for thirty years has been the chief and apparently inexhaustible source of Japanese coal. He possesses 5,000,000 acres of thickly wooded forest land, 1,000,000 acres of land, no less than 400 palaces and country seats surrounded by large parks and gardens, and filled with priceless treasures of art. What an immense hoard of gold and jewels may not be hidden away after the custom of Oriental rulers under these old palaces, it is impossible to say, and it is equally impossible to estimate the sums the late Emperor poured in foreign investments, or stowed away in the Bank of England, where so many sovereigns, European as well as Oriental, have dropped "an anchor to windward."

Emperor Alexander II. of Russia, for instance, is known to have had more at the time of his death, $25,000,000 on deposit.

If I have enumerated above the various Japanese concerns in which the late Mikado held stock it is in order to show how keenly interested he was in the commercial and industrial development of his native land, and how much of his private fortune contributed to the public good. It goes without saying that the popular knowledge that he had in his private purse sums of his money in these domestic enterprises, created public confidence, and promoted their success.

From the annual civil list of the Mikado from the national treasury, he has received $2,000,000. About four years ago, the Japanese Parliament voted to increase the Emperor's private allowance to $10,000,000. It is not, however, the increase, in consequence of the heavy burdens which had been upon his people by the expenditure in connection with the Russian War.

The fact that the Sultan of Turkey has on the recommendation of the late Emperor, Ghazi Muktahir Pasha, administration, issued a decree of amnesty in favor of nearly all those persons who had been banished or exiled, and who were either banished or else compelled to seek refuge abroad, in April, 1908, to escape sentences of death and of imprisonment, including the late Emperor, is a notable figure on the list, which, however, is not a complete list of the Emperor's titles. He is, for instance, the Grand Master of the Order of the Ornament, Munir Pasha, chief interpreter to the ex-Sultan, and after the late Emperor's death, he was named as the successor to the throne. He is, for instance, the Grand Master of the Order of the Ornament, Munir Pasha, chief interpreter to the ex-Sultan, and after the late Emperor's death, he was named as the successor to the throne.

of the Crimean War, the hero of the siege of Kars in the Russo-Turkish War of 1877, and for nearly a score of years was Turkish High Commissioner in Egypt, where his son, Mahmoud Muktahir, now Minister of Marine in his father's cabinet, married a sister of the present Khedive. The new cabinet is distinctly Anglophile.

One of the greatest matrimonial prizes in Great Britain, now that the Marquis of Annesley has married the Duke of Rutland's daughter, Lady Marjorie Manners, is Edward George Spencer Churchill, only son of the widowed Lady Edward Spencer-Churchill, and through his father a grandson of the sixth Duke of Marlborough, so that he is only rather remotely related to the present and ninth Duke of that ilk. Lady Edward is the possessor of a large fortune, that came to her from her father, Colonel George Warburton, M. P., and her son, Edward George, has recently inherited another from his grandmother, who married "an second son" the late Lord Northwick, which Lord Northwick was the head of the baronetcy of Charles II's creation, and a baron dating from 1733. When he died, more than thirty years ago, he left a fortune of nearly $10,000,000, through whom it devolved upon her.

The Northwick fortune alone represents landed property yielding a revenue of $250,000 a year, personally to the amount of about $500,000, and in England at Northwick Park, in Wiltshire. I hear that the collection is likely to come into the market, owned by the late Duke of Devonshire, and more than thirty years ago, he left a fortune of nearly $10,000,000, through whom it devolved upon her.

Edward Spencer Churchill who inherited his mother's wealth, was formerly an officer of the Grenadier Guards, in which regiment he served with distinction through the Boer War. He is a very good looking, a Thelwell in politics, and has, nevertheless, twice been defeated in attempts to get elected to Parliament. The possession of the extensive landed estates vests him with so much political influence, that when it comes to power it certainly may be relied upon to nominate him for a Peerage.

Pitt used to insist that every Englishman with a revenue of $100,000 de facto from land, was entitled to a seat in the House of Lords. How much more, therefore, does a man deserve one when his income from land alone is nearly three times that amount, and who moreover is the grandson of a duke, and a son of one of the great historic houses of British aristocracy. For the past month I have been suffering with rheumatism in my ankle, instep and toes. I tried several remedies, which apparently gave me no relief. Being a special man with Colgate & Co., of New York, necessitated being on my feet and walking all day, I realized something must be done for my relief quickly.

Where there is no swelling or fever a few applications of Noah's Liniment will usually relieve or permanently cure.

Noah's Liniment penetrates—does not evaporate like most external remedies; requires very little rubbing.
